

CLASSY COOKS

Cook with the best.....

E-News No. 19
October 2010

We are excited to now stock the Nordicware range of pans . They come in fantastical different shapes- a castle, a butterfly and garden bugs, as well as traditional Bundt shapes for adult parties. No surprise that Nigella Lawson uses a Nordicware pan in her recent book.

As well as cakes, you can make amazing shaped jellies and chocolates. You can hire the pans from Classy Cooks too-great for special birthday cakes.

Nordic Ware is a family-owned, American manufacturer of kitchenware products founded in 1946. They have produced an extensive range of quality cookware, bakeware, and other products over the last 60-plus years. Nordic Ware is now best known for its Bundt® Pan, which comes in a wide range of fun designs for both adults and kids. Today, there are nearly 60 million Bundt® pans in kitchens across America.

The Nordic Ware name is associated with quality, dependability and value - they pride themselves on providing long-lasting quality products, which will be handed down through generations.

Look forward to seeing you soon,

Mary, Rivka and Judy.
